

I oppose the rule regarding media ownership. Consolidation of the U.S. media business is an undemocratic proposal. An independent media with local ties is crucial for the democratic process. I don't buy any of the logic associated with the efficiencies of a consolidated media. The media faces no foreign competition like other industries. Consolidation would stifle the debate that is crucial for a free society.